

The Modern Languages & Comparative Literature Department & Globus Lecture Series

Chiara Marchelli
WRITER. TRANSLATOR. EDUCATOR

Monday
November 13, 2017
4:10-5:25pm
Room VC 6-210

In addition to her work as translator, editor and educator, Chiara Marchelli is the Italian born author of numerous works such as Angeli e Cani (2003), Sotto i tuoi occhi (2007), Le mie parole per te (2015). Her her latest novel, Le notti blu (2017), is currently shortlisted for the prestigious national Italian literary prize, Premio Strega.

She is one of the growing number of writers who have found themselves living abroad and experiencing a sense of emotional and geographical displacement. She now makes her home in New York which she considers “the motherland of the uprooted.” Yet, it is this displacement which allows her to examine the experience of being Italian while living abroad.

Chiara Marchelli joins us to lead a discussion on the concept of family and the meaning of home as it is experienced in her most recent work.

For questions regarding the event, please contact Prof. Antonietta D’Amelio

Antonietta.Damelio@baruch.cuny.edu

This event is made possible by the Globus Lecture Series.